

Boix [Setting the Rules of the Game]

Explains changes in electoral rules.

Lijphart

- From the internet: "Plurality system, electoral process in which the candidate who polls more votes than any other candidate is elected. It is distinguished from the majority system, in which, to win, a candidate must receive more votes than all other candidates combined."